URBANDALE COMMUNITY SCHOOL DISTRICT BOARD OF DIRECTORS MEETING September 12, 2016

AGENDA ITEM EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

Item:

Consent Agenda, Item F (c). - Forecast 5 Analytics Customer Agreement

Contact(s):

Shelly Clifford, Chief Financial Officer Steve Bass, Superintendent

Purpose:

5Cast from Forecast5 is part of an analytical tool that allows us to compare our District with other schools with regard to finance, enrollment, and staffing.

Recommendation:

Administration recommends Board approval of the proposed agreement.

Details:

Forecast 5 Analytics is a software suite geared toward public sector tasks and projects. The applications can be used individually, however, additional component modules create the ability to generate multi-dimensional output. The District currently has 5Sight analytics module, and this agreement would add the 5Cast module, for a three-year period. The two modules would create projections and comparisons with other districts in areas such as finance, enrollment, and staffing ratios.

Legal/Insurance Review:

None – the company is already vetted through the Iowa Association of School Boards.

Cost and Fund Account:

Regular total cost for the 5Cast module is $10,000/year, but is discounted $3,500/year with purchase of 5Sight module the District already has. Further discounted by $1,050/year for multi-year purchase. Historically has been paid through General Fund, but is also an eligible expense from PPEL. The expense can be funded through either fund at the Board's discretion.

2016 Comments

- 1 Board members display a low level of trust for UCSD administrators. There are many instances where members are not staying at the policy level in meetings.
- 2 Disagree comments pertain to facilities-related decisions over the past couple of year.

I would like to see the board members work to improve their performance related to being "accessible and responsive to the Superintendent, staff, and other stakeholders." I would welcome the opportunity to have board members in my building and to discuss with them celebrations, concerns, issues that would ensure they know what is happening in the district. Teachers would also like the same contact. I would encourage the board to not only use numerical data (scores, etc...) but also feedback from surveys.

The board continues to operate at too low a level, getting into details that are the responsibility of the paid leadership. This has the (presumably unintended) effect of 4 communicating distrust of the work done by the district leaders. Their support of the continued quality continuous improvement however, is very positive, and critical to district

2015 Comments

- 1 The board does not seem to trust administrators. A few board members seem to dominate all discussions and make decisions on personal agendas/future aspirations. Pleased that
- 2 Only responded to the questions that I have direct knowledge of.
- 3 I would have appreciated a never-sometimes-usually-always scale.
- 4 Some on the board operate with a high level of mistrust toward district management. Morale among administrators is low.
- 5 Increase communication between board and building administrators as a means for removing roadblocks. Allow for more input from building administrators with regards to
- The time spent questioning practices that should be trusted by the administration to handle is concerning. The Board exists to govern district policies. Working "on" the system vs.
- 6 "within" the system is something that should be of greater importance.
- 7 Most of these I am not in a position to observe so I did not respond.

disrespectful when board members are on their phones while people are presenting. In board meetings I have attended, I don't feel like they operate as a team, but a collection of individuals. I don't feel like the board respects the work of the administrators. I feel like the board is supportive of the systems work, and I am glad they are trying to learn and use these practices as well.

Feedback for the Urbandale Board of Education

The Board works with the superintendent and staff in a climate of professionalism and mutual respect.

- It doesn't feel respectful when a lot of the administrative decisions are questioned by the board. (e.g. purchases, finances, questions from the directors for agenda topics)

Board members communicate with district staff using the approved procedure.

- Emails to principals/admin team without a CC to Steve or Shelly.
- Direct contact with district staff and not always following chain of command.
- Whispers and "side-bars" during board meetings.
- Lots of "messaging" in body language during board meetings is evident to public.

Board members use the district process and chain of command to resolve problems and complaints.

- Principals don't always feel concerns come from a "parent" view vs a board member.
- Don't always act appropriate when board members hear from a friend in the district.
- Seems that board members always want to know everything that is going on when they visit.

The Board exhibits ethics, integrity, flexibility, and tact when working as a Board.

- Discussion on raises was not dealt with tact
- Administration doesn't feel the board trust their judgement when they question line item purchases
- Several mentioned that when they follow the board policy with purchases, the board still makes them feel like they did something wrong

The Board works as a team in leading the district.

- Doesn't appear that the board utilizes any systemic processes; and should as leaders of the district
- Always asking, "Is this in the budget?" but several times when the board thinks it's a good use of money, no one ask that question (e.g. playground equipment)

The Board makes decisions to support the district priorities and not individual Board member agendas.

- Appears to be a frequent practice that individual board members are swayed by stakeholders where their kids go to school and then they don't see things from a district perspective.
- Some voices are too loud so others appear to shut down

The Board incorporates core values (best practices) in Board operations.

- Appears there are no processes in place; not evident to public at meetings

The Board provides for adequate district facilities.

- Different situations create different perspectives (as Keri shared at board meeting); board can't help this sometimes because of people's unique situation/perspective
- Seem to desire "band-aid" remedies instead of long-term solutions
- Example: when the board agreed to reducing elementary schools to five, then switched one month later.....also denied a maintenance building.....denied a larger AO
- Appreciate the Board approving the QLEO process

Clarifying the Comments:

- 1) Directors should not carry their work with them to the board table; trust administrations recommendations. Questioning indicate the board thinks administration lives in a vacuum and doesn't utilize a vetting process in making decisions. Frequently discuss things beyond governance and policy. Many stated the board makes them very uncomfortable by being "grilled" with questions
- 2) I clarified the roles and reminded them that when directors attend school activities, they are not really there to represent the board and they cannot ask about concerns, celebrations, and issues.
- 4) Doesn't appear to trust Shelly with financials. Why not? If Supt or Shelly thought we couldn't afford something, they would not even make the recommendation.

The administrative team members wanted to also note that most all of the scores are up from last year; showing improvement. Efforts of the directors is appreciated.

FAQ: Superintendent Evaluation

FAQ: Superintendent Evaluation

In our district, the board evaluates the superintendent only on progress toward his/her goals. Is this enough?

The lowa Code states that at a minimum, administrator evaluation must be based on both:

- Competence in meeting the Iowa Standards for School Leaders (ISSL) and
- Performance/progress on the superintendent's goals.

Is a once per year superintendent annual evaluation adequate?

• This does meet the minimum requirement of the law. However, best practice suggests that a superintendent evaluation process is more meaningful and helpful if it is ongoing and takes place over the course of a year. IASB, School Administrators of Iowa (SAI), as well as experts and practitioners in the field strongly endorse a yearlong process that includes time for the superintendent to update the board on progress toward reaching his or her goals and time for the board to provide feedback on a regular basis (progress report conferences).

In addition to the law, are there other documents that the board and superintendent need to keep in mind as they conduct the superintendent evaluation process?

- It is essential for boards and superintendents to review board policy regarding superintendent evaluation if they have one. While many districts do not have specific policy regarding this area, and it is not necessary, board teams and superintendents need to follow existing policy or seek to revise policy if it is not aligned with the law nor working as desired.
- The lowa Department of Education Standards says this regarding evaluation: "12.3(3) Personnel evaluation. Each board shall adopt evaluation criteria and procedures for all contracted staff. The evaluation processes shall conform to lowa Code sections 279.14 [pertains to teachers, counselors, media specialists, etc.] and 279.23A [refers to administrators.]"

 The district must have a job description for the superintendent or should develop one (American's with Disabilities Act – ADA requirement.)

How strong should the connection be between superintendent's goals and district goals or priorities?

 The more tightly the superintendent's goals are aligned to district goals, the better! Superintendent goals have the potential to make a significant impact when the board and superintendent have been intentional about tying the majority or all of the superintendent's goals to the district vision, mission, priorities, and goals.

How many goals should our superintendent have?

A general rule of thumb is to limit the goals to no more than three. The concept is "less is more" and this idea is reinforced in school improvement literature. There are exceptions and a specific board and superintendent may have good reasons for the superintendent having more than three goals. However, the best advice from IASB staff is to intentionally limit the number of goals for the superintendent.

How does the board and superintendent gauge the progress on the superintendent's goals and overall performance?

- Establishing the superintendent's goals is a critical step for the board and superintendent team, but it's only part of the process.
- Two other important conversations should occur.
 - First, it is preferable for the superintendent to take the lead in initially identifying and recommending indicators of progress and determining key supports for the superintendent to achieve his/her goals.
 - Second, the board and superintendent should devote time early in the school year to discuss and agree upon indicators of progress and the key supports the superintendent needs from the board in order to achieve his/her goals and perform satisfactorily on the lowa Standards for School Leaders (ISSL).

Should our board team wait until spring before we prepare to evaluate the superintendent?

- IASB sometimes receives calls like this from board members in the spring. Often, new board members elected the previous fall call IASB and share a scenario like this: "Our board president handed out blank evaluation forms at our most recent meeting in April and asked board members to complete the form within the next two weeks and send it to the board president to compile. Either I didn't know this was coming or I missed this topic during prior conversations at the board table. Is there a better way for new board members to prepare for this task? For next school year, I'd like our team to get organized earlier in the fall."
- Best practice is for the whole board team to review the superintendent evaluation process in the late summer or early fall after new board members or a new superintendent have assumed duties. This is an opportune time for the whole board team and superintendent to review the district's superintendent evaluation process and materials including: the Standards for School Leaders (ISSL), the superintendent's goals, related documents such as superintendent job description and board policy if the district has one. It's also a good chance to review the anticipated timeline during the year when the board will hear and discuss progress reports on goals with the superintendent. During these discussions the board can provide feedback to the superintendent on progress toward goals and overall performance.

In what ways should board members be involved in providing input and who should actually meet with the superintendent to conduct the end of the year evaluation conference?

Preparing for the end of the year superintendent evaluation and conference

• The superintendent evaluation process is a tremendous opportunity for each board member to provide input. Whether the evaluation tool includes rating scales, rubrics or open-ended responses, every board member has a chance to be heard. After board input is collected, it is important for the whole board to work through a process to summarize the input of board members. The summary should reflect overall themes identified by the board as a whole,

- while recognizing each member sees things from a different viewpoint.
- With this in mind, it can be challenging for the whole board to discuss the compiled input, reconcile differences, and identify major or overarching themes. However, the overall themes are the essential areas for the board to communicate with the superintendent.
- This type of process can help ensure whole board team awareness of the overall, summary comments and the final end of the year written evaluation information before it is shared with the superintendent.

Conducting the end of the year superintendent evaluation conference

- Boards use a variety of ways to conduct the superintendent evaluation conference. Here are typical examples:
 - Board president meets with the superintendent
 - Board president and vice president meet with the superintendent
 - o Board sub-committee meets with the superintendent
 - Whole board team meets with the superintendent
- In general, IASB staff encourages the whole board team to participate in the end of the year superintendent evaluation conference. This provides all board members the opportunity for first-hand awareness of the information communicated between the board and superintendent regarding the superintendent's performance.
- Although the board may have one or two spokespersons who lead the end of the year evaluation conference (e.g. such as the board president and/or vice president), the board can reinforce the importance of superintendent evaluation by participating as a whole board team.

Is there anything else our board team and superintendent should keep in mind as we prepare for and conduct the superintendent's end of the year evaluation conference?

- The Superintendent's end of the year, summary evaluation conference is a good time to identify initial ideas for superintendent goals for the next school year. This could include adding new goals, refining or adding next steps to prior goals, continuing to work on existing goals, or a combination of these. These ideas may only be draft goals which the board and superintendent can revisit, refine, and finalize at another time.
- If the board has conducted a self-assessment, it's also a great opportunity to consider aligning one or more superintendent goals with the board's priorities for self-improvement for the next school year.

After progress reports during the year and the final end of the year summary superintendent evaluation, what should happen with the information?

- The board is encouraged to hear and discuss periodic progress reports from the superintendent during the year (progress report conferences). It is also good practice for the board team as a whole to capture notes regarding overall summary themes from progress report conferences with the superintendent. These notes should be kept in the superintendent's personnel file and used by the board as a basis for preparing the superintendent's final evaluation later in the school year.
- The final, summary evaluation of the superintendent, including the overall summary of progress toward goals, indicators of progress, and performance on the Iowa Standards for School Leaders (ISSL) needs to be captured on the district's superintendent evaluation instrument. The summary superintendent evaluation should be placed in the superintendent's personnel file in the district office. This is for the protection of both the board and the superintendent.

Superintendent Leadership Performance Review: A Systems Approach

Developed by and for Iowa school leaders with support from the Iowa Association of School Boards, School Administrators of Iowa and The Wallace Foundation

This model process is designed to promote a reflective conversation between school board members and their superintendent. This collaborative approach is for the purpose of improvement of performance of both the superintendent and the system so that student achievement increases.

Superintendent Evaluation: A Systems Approach

Introduction

The process of evaluating a superintendent is a very important tool in the entire improvement efforts of a school district. It defines expectations, enhances communication, prioritizes district goals and supports the board of education to focus its attention on holding the superintendent accountable for improving the achievement of all students.

Superintendent evaluation should reflect a systems approach. Such an approach should be guided by a set of ethics, values, and beliefs that undergird the work so both the superintendent and members of the board can operate in an integrity-filled manner.

The following system of evaluation is a model which can be adapted for such a purpose. Senate File 277, enacted by the 2007 Iowa Legislature, requires that superintendents be evaluated annually based on the six Iowa Standards for School Leaders (ISSL). The minimum requirement of Iowa law is that individuals new to administration have a comprehensive evaluation during their initial year of employment. Best practice is for administrators who assume a new administrative position to have a summative evaluation during their first year in the new position. After the initial summative evaluation the law requires an annual formative assessment around the superintendent's Individual Professional Development Plan (IPDP). The three-year summative evaluation requires documentation of competence on the six ISSL standards, meeting of district expectations drawn from the district's Comprehensive School Improvement Plan, Individual Professional Development Plan attainment and other supporting documentation.

Operating Principles

A comprehensive superintendent evaluation process must:

- Link to academic, social and emotional growth for all students in the system.
 Rationale: Multiple measures of all types of student learning must be included in the definition of accountability.
- 2. Recognize the importance of a superintendent's work in the moral dimensions of leadership to facilitate a better quality of life for all groups, both inside the school community and in the greater community.

Rationale: The larger work of the superintendent is about shaping the future of the community and having a positive effect on people's lives.

- 3. Align with the six Iowa Standards for School Leaders (ISSL).
 - Rationale: Senate File 277, enacted by the 2007 Iowa Legislature, requires that superintendents be evaluated annually based on the six Iowa Standards for School Leaders.
- 4. Have research-based criteria about effective superintendent behaviors which are substantiated by measurable data from multiple sources and are legal, feasible, accurate and useful.

Rationale: Standards of any kind are only effective if they meet propriety, utility, feasibility and accuracy measures. (Examples of multiple data sources are a superintendent self-assessment; a portfolio compiled by the superintendent; 360° feedback; the school improvement plan; artifacts that address previous goals, school board meeting agendas, etc.)

5. Provide opportunities for personal and professional growth.

Rationale: Evaluation processes must address the whole person and be oriented toward continuous improvement. See Sample 2 (Individual Professional Development Plan) and Sample 3 (Remediation Form) in this packet.

6. Be ongoing and connected to school improvement goals.

Rationale: An evaluation is a process, not a once-a-year conversation, and must be connected to Comprehensive School Improvement Plans.

7. Connect the district's goals with its publics' vision for their schools.

Rationale: Goals cannot be developed in isolation; district goals must reflect the community's highest hopes for its public schools.

8. Be intended to improve performance not prove incompetence.

Rationale: An effective evaluation process is predicated on a spirit of providing feedback for growth, not on finding evidence of shortcomings. If a board is considering evaluation for the purposes of termination, other processes should be employed.

Suggested Timeline for Superintendent Evaluation
Suggested Timeline	Action
Late Spring	 Superintendent and board clarify vision, mission and long-range plans for district. Board and superintendent review superintendent job description and evaluation process, forms, indicators, timelines and possible supporting documents/information/data to be used to measure performance.
Early Summer	 Superintendent creates Individual Professional Development goals based on district goals, which are measurable and doable in 12 months. The goals are mutually agreed to by the board/superintendent and shared with staff. An Individual Professional Development Plan is developed by the superintendent in cooperation with the board to support his/her goals.
Fall	 Board President and superintendent review evaluation process and forms with new board members following the election.
Quarterly or Early Winter	6. Superintendent makes interim progress reports to the board on district goals and Individual Professional Development Plan goals
Spring	 Superintendent completes a self-assessment including reflections and supporting artifacts and provides it to the board. Individual board members complete evaluation forms and bring the forms to the board's evaluation session or send copies to the board president or board secretary to be compiled, according to district's procedures. Board members meet to discuss their evaluations and develop the board's official written document(s) that will be shared with the superintendent following the meeting. The meeting must follow the provisions of lowa's open meetings law Ch.21.5(a) or 21.5(i) and the advice of district's legal council. The board's official evaluation document(s) is/are shared, clarified and discussed with the superintendent, following the open meetings/open records laws. Changes to the evaluation may be made as a result of the discussions. Remediation Targets (if any) will be included as a part of the final evaluation document(s) as a confidential personnel record (Sample 3). A copy of the final written evaluation form is placed in the superintendent's personnel folder. lowa law requires that notification of a board's intent to terminate the contract of a superintendent occur by May 15.
Late Spring	13. Return to the beginning of the cycle.

Written Comments and Number Ratings in Superintendent Evaluation

Written Comments and Number Ratings in Superintendent Evaluation

Introduction

A challenge for board teams is determining the information to include in the end of the year final written superintendent evaluation. Best practice indicates the board should focus on identifying overall coherent messages reflecting consensus or the majority opinion of the board about the superintendent's performance. At the same time, individual board member input is what determines the overall themes the board team identifies regarding the superintendent's performance.

This document addresses two types of board input on superintendent evaluation instruments:

- Written comments
- Number ratings on scales or rubrics

Written comments

For sections of the superintendent evaluation instrument containing written comments by board members, consider the following viewpoint excerpted from an article in the American School Board Journal (ASBJ):

Boards find it difficult to speak with one voice, composed as they are of individual members. The evaluation offers a great opportunity for meaningful dialogue between board and superintendent, but if one party (the board) fails to speak coherently, that opportunity is squandered.

An evaluation that dutifully records every board member's comment without regard to how many opinions it represents will confuse the message. Personal agendas and individual perceptions can lead to comments that reflect neither board consensus nor majority opinion.

They are nevertheless included out of a mistaken desire to have each member's contributions included in the final written evaluation. When it fails to give voice to a coherent message, the board confuses its most important – and many would say - only employee.

Solution: Draw a distinction between individual comments which board members have a right to express, and the board's formal message which is its collective duty to deliver. Before the meeting (with the superintendent), collect every member's input in response to each criteria. Consider all such comments, and then deliberate as a (whole) board to decide which comments reflect the opinion of the majority. Only include majority opinions in the final evaluation.

Non-majority opinions

Sample ways to consider including non-majority opinions about superintendent performance - These are intended to limit the amount of non-majority input in order to avoid confusing the overall messages of the board.

When the board is unable to reach consensus on its overall messages about superintendent performance, the board team may find it helpful to consider one of these types of options:

- Include a total of no more than two or three of the non-majority comments or messages. The board team discusses and chooses the two or three non-majority opinions to include (the evaluation lists the number of board members in agreement with each nonmajority opinion)
- Each board member can add no more than one or two non-majority comments or messages that are most important to them (the evaluation should list these as non-majority opinions of an individual board member).

Number ratings

For sections of the superintendent evaluation instrument containing number ratings by board members, consider the following viewpoint:

When using number ratings, averages can sometimes "mask" the overall picture. For numeric ratings, it may be more helpful to both the board and superintendent to include the counts for each rating. Review each of the two groups of scenarios on the following pages. Then consider the various insights about superintendent performance that a board and superintendent would gain when they have data that includes counts for each rating compared to only averages.

Urbandale Board of Education Operating Protocol

For the purpose of enhancing teamwork and increase efficiency and effectiveness, the board members of the Urbandale Community School District are committed to the implementation of the following operating protocol:

Advocacy and Goals

- Our top priority is to assure that each and every student receives a quality education; the board represents the needs and interest of all the children in the Urbandale Community School District. Our mission is to "teach all and to reach all."
- The board will set clear goals for themselves and the superintendent. They will also set clear goals for the Urbandale Community School District.
- We agree to "move the question" when discussion is repetitive. Board meetings are for decision-making, actions, and votes, not endless discussion. To be efficient and effective, long board meetings must be avoided.

Communication and Decision-making

- We will listen and direct individuals to follow policy related Chain of Command.
- We will ensure that every board member has equal access to all information and a responsibility to become well informed prior to conversations.
- We will consider research, best practice, public input, and financial impact when making decisions.
- We will listen with an open mind and be willing to change our stance based upon evidence.
- Surprises to the board or the superintendent will be the exception, not the rule. There should be no surprises at a board meeting.

Roles and Responsibilities

- We will emphasize planning, policy-making, public relations, and direction for the district.
- We will develop and nurture positive relationships that foster trust among ourselves and our administrative team.
- We will commit to an annual retreat to review strategic plan progress and establish yearly goals.
